"This is unlike anything we've ever offered here at The Motley Fool, and I consider it our boldest idea yet..."

Saturday, March 3, 2012

Dear Fellow Investor,

That's how Motley Fool Co-founder, David Gardner described this highly unusual project to me.

My name is Jeremy Phillips. I'm Chief Technology Officer here at The Motley Fool.

I'm an investor just like you. And I'm in the fortunate position of being able to access our best stock pickers, and their best ideas on a daily basis. And I have to say I've never seen or heard anything quite like this before.

We're calling it Motley Fool Supernova. And according to my calculations this unique strategy could quite simply provide you the best investing odds in the universe.

That's an incredibly bold claim I realize. And one I'm continuing to analyze as we speak. But I've run a back-testing model 1 million times. Or rather, my computer spent the last few days chewing on these numbers...

When I showed up this morning I found results that could turn the investment advisory industry upside down. Take a look:

- Random portfolios constructed from Supernova stocks (like Westport Innovations, Activision Blizzard, Intuitive Surgical, Rackspace, and NetEase.com) ended positive 99.9981% of the time...
- These portfolios beat the S&P Total Returns Index 98.7566% of the time...
- And at least doubled the S&P Total Returns Index 71.9620% of the time.

And keep in mind. These are random portfolios. We think the odds will get even better when you apply expert management to this very special pool of stocks.

But let's back up a moment. This is NOT a stock picking service we're talking about. It's NOT about options, shorts, ETFs... or micro-caps, deep value plays, turnaround situations, or anything complicated like that.

In fact, you've probably heard about many, or all of these stocks. And David's strategy is no more complicated than "buy low and sell high." And yet, the potential here looks to me like a game changer. Plain and simple.

And I'm not alone. Supernova is causing a great deal of buzz inside our building. And word is beginning to leak out. I urge you to click the link and watch David Gardner answer the question everybody is asking:

WHAT IS MOTLEY FOOL SUPERNOVA?

You'll also have the opportunity to enter your email address and receive David's up-to-the-minute "top dog" and "first mover" stocks in fields such as Cloud Computing, Medical Technology, Video Games, Energy and more...

Check it out while you can!
